

Sprint 4 burndown:

Sprint 3 burndown:

Pictured above are our burndown charts for sprints 3 and 4. Like last sprint, they differ because of when we started our work. However, unlike last sprint, we were able to finish all of our work because the new tasks were much simpler than last sprint. We also had some carry over work from last sprint that was partially done and that contributed to the rate at which we completed our sprint work. What also helped is that our velocity for this sprint. It also helped that we had less story points for this sprint (44 this sprint compared to 47 from last sprint).